success of the reception and the carrying out of the programme. A number of visitors attended from Fitchville, Moodus and other surrounding towns.

The Honored Jubilarian.

Rev. Michael H. May, pastor of St. Andrew's church, Colchester, was born in New London. He received his early education in the Union school district of that town and was graduated from the Bulkeley High school in the class

In September, 1878, he entered Bos-on college, where he completed the largical course. He studied philoso-hy in Niagara university and made theological studies in the Grand mary, Montreal, where he was ordained by Archbishop Fabre Dec. 20th, 1884. After ordination he was assigned for two months to St. Peter's, Hartford, and the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Derby.

First Permanent Appointment.

His first permanent appointment was to St. John's, Middletown, where he served six years. He was then transferred to Baltic, working little more than a year as assistant to Rt. Rev. Monsignor Synnott who was rector of the churches in Baltic and Octors at that they was promoted to St. Mary's, New Britain, serving for two years as assistant under Bishop Tierney and Rev. William Harty. In Colchester Thirteen Years.

In September 1895, he was appointed pastor of St. Mary's, South Coventry, and after remaining there thirteen months was transferred to Colchester, where he has labored the past thirteen

During the years of his pastorate in Colchester he has been prevented by storm but one Sunday from reaching his missions. The drive in the early morning is a long and hard one, the distance each way being ten miles.

Parish of 400 Square Miles.

The people under lifs charge are ldely scattered. The territory includod in the parish extends from the hills of Gilead to the shores of Long Island sound and from the Connecticut to the Yantic river, containing more than four hundred square miles. Within the ines of his parish are towns in four counties: Hadlyme, Bozrah, Lebanon counties: Hadlyme, Bozrah, Lebanon, Salem and Colchester in New London county; Gilead, Hebron and Turner-ville in Holland county; Marlboro in Hartford, and East Haddam and Moodus in Middlesex county.

During his pastorate Father May has renovated the churches in Colchester, Moodus and Bozrahville, and derorated and added to the Fitchville church property.

Has Traveled Much.

Has Traveled Much.

Father May has traveled in all parts of the United States and made a lengthy tour in Africa, Asia, touring Egypt and the Holy Land, and visiting every country of Europe.

Two years ago he took a trip to the Panama canal, Venezuela, Brazil and the West Indies Islands. He has also visited on two occasions Cuba and Porto Rico.

After his return from these trips he After his return from these trips he in Colchester he has taken an active iterest in all that pertains to the re-gious, intellectual and civic life of e community.

Although with little time to spare om his church duties, he has been ways ready and willing to fill any soltion of honor or work to which his position of honor or work to which his fellow citizens might call him. For more than twolve years he has been an active and zenious member of the board of school visitors and is untiring in his efforts to better the schools and to place the teaching staff on a level with that of the larger cities.

with that of the larger cities.

He is highly respected by the Grand Army veterans, for whom he has on three occasions delivered the Memorial day oration. He was one of the speakers at the dedication of the Cragin Memorial library, and was the clergyman chosen to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Baco-academy, 1900.

Zealous Assistants.

Father May has been assisted in his missionary work by able helpers. Rev. P. H. McCkan, S. T. L., superior of the Connecticut aposidiate. Rev. C. T. McCann of Noewirh/Town, and Rev. John McDonald of Hartford are among his former assistants. His present assistant is Rev. Phillip J. Mooney.

All Parish Property Free from Debt. While caring for the spiritual welfare of the people entrusted to his care Father May has not neglected the material interests of the parish. The churches in Moodus, Fitchville and Dozrahyille are free from dabt in celient condition and equipped with every requirement for the full celebration of the liturgy. The church and school property in Colchester are not only in good condition, but there are more than two thousand dollars in the treasury, and this satisfactory financial condition exists owing to the generosity and hearty co-operation of a people who have suffered through the industrial depression that existed in Colchester for more than a dozen years.

Mass of Thanksgiving.

At the solemn mass of thanksgiving Sunday morning in St. Andrew's church Rev. Michael H. May, the jubilarian, was celebrant, Rev. Edward Downes deacon, Rev. Francis E. May sub-deacon and Rev. Philip J Mooney master of ceremonies. The services were most impressive, Father Downes preached a scholarly and eloquent sermon, his subject being "The Dignity and Responsibility of the Priesthood."

The Pastor Sneaks.

The Pastor Speaks. The Pastor Speaks.

At the close of the mass Father May thanked the preacher and the people and made acknowledgement to Almighty God for the favors and grace that He has bestowed upon him during the twenty-five years that he has spent in the prieathood.

He said he was especially thankful to the parishioners who during all the years of his pastorate worked so hard and contributed so generously to the

There was a large attendance at all the churches.

A service of story and song, entitled Probable Sons was conducted at the Baptist church in the evening. Mrs. Benjamin R. Gardner read the story, pausing at proper intervals while appropriate songs were sung by the church choir, by Miss Katherine Babcock, Miss Isabelie Button, and C. F. Gardner, B. R. Gardner, G. H. Prior and E. H. Hiscox, the church male quartette. The story told and the lesson taught proved inspiring to the large audience present. The admirable reading by Mrs. Gardner was of the story of the Prodigal Son, and explained in itself the title of Probable Son, changed by the mispronunciation of the little maid concerned. The decoration on the organ front was by G. H. Prior and showed a scroll by G. H. Prior and showed a scroll of silver tinsel bearing the words, A Song, A star.
